Departmental Update

ENROLLMENT/STUDENT INTEREST

We begin the 2022-2023 academic year with 340 students- 256 undergraduate students, 84 graduate students, and 7 Crime Analysis Certificate students. In the undergraduate program, forensic psychology is the most popular specialization with 101 students – 71 BA/30 BS (39% of all CJ undergrads) followed by forensic science with 60 students – 6 BA/54 BS (23% of CJ undergrads), criminology with 47 students (18% of all CJ undergrads), and administration of justice with 46 students (18% of all CJ undergrads). The most popular graduate program specializations are Investigative Criminology with 32 students (38% of all grad students) and MACJ (no specialization) with 27 students (32% of all grad students), with the remainder of the students in the Research and Evaluation specialization with 10 students (4% of all grad students), Victimology with 9 students (3.5% of all grad students), and the MACJ/JD with 3 students (2% of all grad students). We have 21 incoming MACJ students who are graduates of Boston University, Central Washington University, East Carolina University, Loras College, Northern Arizona University, Panjab University-Chandigarh, San Diego State University, San Francisco State University, Seattle Central College, Seattle University, University of Colorado-Boulder, University of Nigeria-Nsukka, University of Phoenix, University of Sunderland, University of WA-Seattle, University of WA-Tacoma, Wayne State University, and Western WA University.

STUDENT AWARDS AND DEPARTMENTAL HONORS

The undergraduate commencement awards include the Kelliher Award for the highest GPA in the major and the Corr Service & Ethics Award named for CJ Department co-founder Eugene Corr, former Assistant Police Chief for the Seattle Police Department honors a graduating senior in the Criminal Justice Department undergraduate program who has made significant service and ethics contributions to the criminal justice system.

The 2022 Kelliher awardees are Sedona Naifeh (BACJ – Forensic Psychology), Chelsea Arnold (BACJ – Forensic Psychology), Grace Abshear (BACJ – Forensic Psychology), and Josilyn Meza (BSCJ-Forensic Science). The Corr Service & Ethics Award went to John (JT) Melbourne (BSCJ-Forensic Science) and Danielle Miller (BACJ – Forensic Psychology).

The Corr Scholarship goes to the incoming graduate student who honors CJ Department co-founder and former Seattle Police Department Assistant Chief Eugene Corr's vision to increase women and minorities in law enforcement. The 2022 Corr Scholarship was awarded to incoming MACJ student Jacqueline Brier.

The 2022 Norm Maleng Academic Excellence and Citizenship Award went to Joslyn Wallenborn (MACJ). Joslyn will continue to work in her position with the WA State Attorney General's Office as a Legal Staff Supervisor. The award is named in honor of Norm Maleng, former King County Prosecutor. Norm was a CJ Department Advisory Committee member who was instrumental in inspiring the inclusion of the Victimology Graduate Specialization. Selection is based upon exceptional graduate work in the classroom and service to the community. Norm's family Judy and Marm Maleng presented Joslyn with the Maleng Award.

Answering the Call:
An Analysis of Jury Pool Representation in Washington State

ABSTRACT AND ARTICLE INFORMATION

Using survey and demographic data collected within Washington Courts from 2016-2017, this research sought to identify whether there are gender, racial/ethnic, and/or sexual orientation disparities that exist within jury pools in Washington State Courts. Results show that Black, Native/Indigenous, People of Color (BIPOC), including Asian Americans and Hispanic/Latinx Americans, are underrepresented in nearly all Washington jury pools. Findings also indicate that BIPOC women were underrepresented in all courts within this analysis. Further findings point towards differences by race and sexual orientation and may indicate underrepresentation among all racial categories. There are clear patterns across all courts included in the present study that show that marginalized groups, in particular BIPOC women, may experience significant hurdles to participate in the jury process. Policy and further research recommendations are discussed.

- Seattle Police Department's Micro-Community Policing Plans continues for its 8th year. Jacqueline Helfgott heads the SPD MCPP in collaboration with the Seattle Police Department with current Research Analysts MACJ students Ashley Dobbs (East/West Precinct), Katie Kepler (North Precinct), Brandon Bledsoe (South/Southwest Precincts), and BSCJ Forensic Science student Evelyn Madrid-Fierro (Citywide). The MCPP has employed 35 students to date as SPD civilian Research Analysts most of whom have been hired with SPD or other CJ agencies upon graduation.

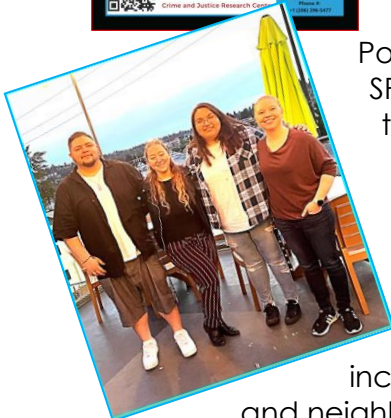

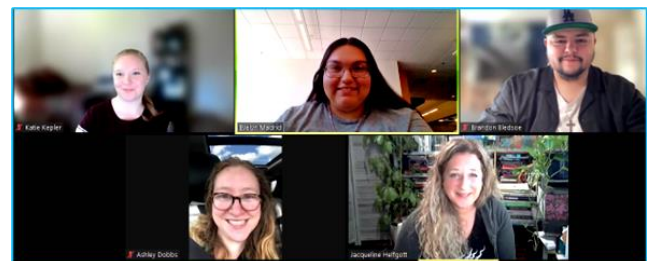

Over the spring/summer 2022, the MCPP research team conducted 15 virtual community-police dialogues that brought together community members and police to engage in conversation. This fall the team is facilitating a special series of MCPP Community-Police Dialogues for the new SPD "Before the Badge" training program for new recruits. The dialogues focused on public safety concerns and how community and police could work together to increase public safety and neighborhood quality of life. Reports on this research are available on SPD MCPP and CJRC websites.

- Evaluation of the Seattle Police Department's "Before the Badge" Training Program. Jacqueline Helfgott and Matt Hickman are leading a longitudinal evaluation of the Seattle Police Department's new "Before the Badge" (BTB) training program with research assistants MACJ student Bailey Tanaka and BSCJ Forensic Psychology students Stanton Shinchi and Hailey Calcagno. The evaluation will utilize the survey instrument developed in the prior longitudinal evaluation of the WSCJTC BLEA guardian law enforcement training and will involve interviewing and collecting survey data from SPD recruits and a comparison group of WSCJTC BLEA recruits over three years.

CONTINUING EDUCATION AND PROFESSIONAL TRAINING AND PROFESSIONAL SERVICE

On April 8, 2022, the Crime & Justice Research Center held our annual continuing education event (virtually for the 3rd year) – “Policing the Black Man: Arrest, Prosecution, and Imprisonment.” The event featured keynote speaker Professor Angela J. Davis, editor of Policing the Black Man: Arrest, Prosecution, and Imprisonment. The event included panels facilitated by authors of chapters in the book – Mark Mauer, Kristin Henning, Renee Hutchins, Ronald Wright, Kathryn Russel-Brown, Tracey Mears, and Jun Hee Lee. This was our largest-ever number of registrants and was an official CLE event.
